Selectmen's Meeting

AUGUST 13, 1985 - DCJ
FULL TIME BUILDING INSPECTOR
APPROVED FOR LIMITED TRIAL

Selectmen in session with the Finance Committee asked that two job changes be approved for Town Hall. The first, for an assistant to the town accountant, Betty Sears, was very readily approved by the Finance Committee. Chairman Michael O'Brien said that the Finance Committee was aware of the heavy workload of the town accountant and since an assistant was a part-time job in the $4.00 per hour range they had no problem in the approval of the request.

The second proposal for making a full-time position of Building Inspector met with much more discussion.

Selectmen Chairman John DeCosta said that Selectmen had noticed a greater workload for the Building Inspector in the long lines at the Town Hall and in the fact that the office was falling behind on inspections. He said the job was now a 20 to 23 hour per week part-time position and said that the Board of Selectmen would like to make it full-time, subject to a 6 months review. DeCosta said that Selectmen had increased the building fees to take care of the increased cost to the town.

Finance Committee Chairman O'Brien said that his committee felt that there is a need to justify the increased number of hours to the townspeople. Peter Hodges, member of the Finance Committee, said that once a full-time building inspector is appointed, in the natural progression of things, he could not imagine that it would ever revert to a part-time position. He indicated that, with this in mind, it was necessary to be sure that the facts justified the move. He said the raised fees go into the general fund and cannot come out without appropriation and therefore the town should have the opportunity to vote at town meeting. Hodges said that he had not had the opportunity to evaluate the figures in depth but in looking them over they indicated an 18% increase in total permits issued over the year; house building was up 7%, 54 inspections in 1984, as compared to 29 through June 30, 1985. Hodges said that in looking at these figures he couldn't imagine that building inspection work would double and that the workload would be serious enough to justify the increased time. He said that the move would create a town position at "the top end of the pay scale at $19,000.00 which would, with benefits, cost the town in the neighborhood of $24,700."

Chairman O'Brien said that he had a problem also with approval of funds since there was $6800. in the Building Inspector's budget and this included money to pay for an assistant to the Building Inspector. He said that he shared Hodges' opinion that the appointment of any temporary full-time position just leads to a permanent thing. O'Brien said that his committee should not be involved in the evaluation of the position but "we are here to tell you if we have the money or do not have the money". He asked, "Do you want a vote to approve a temporary permanent building inspector and fund it?"

All three Selectmen argued strongly that the long lines at the Town Hall and increased inspections justified the change to full-time. They asked that money be taken from the reserve fund to pay for a 6 months permanent building inspector until voters could vote on the change to full-time at a Special Town Meeting.

Selectmen James Huntoon asked for an immediate vote by the Finance Committee on the matter. Chairman O'Brien's motion to fund a temporary full-time position of building inspector for 6 months was carried 3 to 0 with Peter Hodges abstaining.

PLAYGROUND CHILDREN "TOAST NEW YEAR"

It was "champagne" and cookies for Selectmen as the children who take advantage of the playground program at Center School during the summer months as they visited and hosted a "New Year's Party". Director Beth Lawton explained this was the climax to a whirl of celebrations through a whole week as the children crammed Easter, Halloween, Thanksgiving, Christmas and the New Year into one gay fast round of wind-up for the summer fun which is provided by the townspeople. The lemonade "champagne" was served in plastic wine glasses and prize-winning "no bake" cookie creations were served. John McKinnon's Summer Snowballs was the winner of the "no bake off".

Selectmen recalled past visits featuring a scroll, a 7½' totem pole and the real Christmas tree as they munched happily on the prize cookies amid the ringing cries of "Happy New Year". Mrs. Lawton said that an average of 30 children a day participated int the playground activities and she said that special thanks should go to the mothers of some of these children who help out and make the summer activities so enjoyable for all of them.

them." He also extended thanks to all of his deputies. Mr. Pauline wrote that he would extend his service to November 30 if the Selectmen desired because of unforeseen problems.

NANCY GROSS RESIGNS

Nancy Gross wrote Selectmen to resign the post of Shellfish Deputy. She said, "At this time I feel that I have served long enough and it may be time to step aside to let someone new take a turn. Therefore, I am notifying the Board that effective August 30th I wish to resign.

"I would like to inform the Board that I have enjoyed working with Al Pauline over the years, and it is with sadness that I note his resignation.

"Thank you for your cooperation to the shellfish department over the years in which I have served."

ASKS FOR PIGEON RESTRAINING

Mrs. Dorothy Bowers wrote Selectmen to inquire if there is a restraining law in force in Mattapoisett for pigeons. She said there should be for the following reason:

"For 40 or 50 years my family and I have been feeding wild birds. For the last 5 or 6 years a flock of pigeons have arrived at my house early in the morning (5 or 6 a.m.) and, as soon as I throw my birdseed, they descend from my rooftop and in a few minutes if I can't drive them off they have eaten everything."

She said that they have broken her antenna and now are ruining the new one and damaged her skylight.

Mrs. Bowers suggested that owners of pigeon flocks should be required to keep them confined until noontime to give the other birds a chance to eat the food put out for them.

Selectmen, while in sympathy, noted that there are no restraining laws in force concerning pigeons.

INCREASE IN FINES

Selectmen voted to increase the fines on parking tickets unpaid within 21 days to $35.00, the maximum allowed. Notice was received from the Plymouth County Commissioners announcing that the Town of Mattapoisett has 132 parking tickets dating prior to December 31, 1984 which remain unpaid (totalling $3,300.00). In order to take the next step in collection of said fines (notification to the Registry of Motor Vehicles) the Board must vote on an additional fine which must not exceed a total of $35.00. Selectmen voted an additional $30.00 which combined with the $5.00 fine the town charges would make the total of $35.00.

TOWN TO STAND ON ORIGINAL AGREEMENT

Selectmen received correspondence from Town Counsel Donald Fleming with regard to SEMASS. Attorney Fleming states he sees nothing that will prevent the Town from taking the position that it does not wish to execute the proposed "new" agreement and that it will simply stand pat with the old agreement.

A THANK YOU FROM MISS FOX

Miss Dorothy Fox wrote the Board of Selectmen thanking them for their citation and flowers which they gave her in the celebration of her 90th birthday.

Ray Ellis: Watercolor Workshop

EXHIBITION - "AT SEA"

"At Sea", an exhibition of marine paintings, opens at the Marion Art Center on Friday, August 23rd, with a wine and cheese reception from 6:00 to 8:00 p.m. The show runs through September 11th and features regional coastal scenes in oil, acrylic and watercolor by local artists: Phil Gidley, Deborah Healey, Arthur Moniz, Charles Morse, Charles Parsons and A.D. Tinkham. The guest artist with the group is internationally famous watercolorist and illustrator Ray Ellis. His books, South by Southeast and soon-to-be-released North by Northeast, feature text by Walter Cronkite and paintings by Ray Ellis. They collaborated on the books while cruising the eastern coastline of the United States. Ray Ellis has received many awards including the Medal of Honor of the National Arts Club.

The Marion Art Center is pleased to announce that this talented artist and entertaining speaker will be at the Center in person on Friday, August 30th, and Saturday, August 31st. Two very special events are planned.

On Friday evening, August 30th, at 7:00 p.m. a dinner will be held at the Marion Art Center followed by an informal lecture given by Mr. Ellis. On Saturday, August 31st, Ray Ellis will conduct a watercolor workshop from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. In the morning students will paint and their work will be reviewed during lunch. A watercolor demonstration by Mr. Ellis will complete the day.

Reservations must be made in advance for the dinner and the workshop. Admission for the dinner is $25.00 per person, and the fee

Our symbol—a single sail against the sky. It says something about our people and the kind of service we provide at Fairhaven Savings Bank.

It suggests a small boat, a personal way to get where you want to go. We're that kind of bank. Informal, accessible and helpful. We make it easy for you to achieve your financial goals.

It has the precise lines which reflect attention to detail. That's how we handle your business. Our service is reliable and consistent. In a word, professional.

Lastly, it reflects our community and its boating tradition—something we've been a part of for more than 150 years. We're close to our customers and responsive to local needs.

of the community and other interested persons to attend and to share the joy of this occasion.

The Meeting House was built at its present location, 103 Marion Road, in 1827, as the new Rochester Friends Meeting House. Located as it was, in the eastern section of the Second (Mattapoisett) Precinct of Old Rochester, over the years it became known as the Mattapoisett Friends Meeting House. After 1857, when the Second Precinct became the Town of Mattapoisett, the change of name officially of the congregation to Mattapoisett Friends Meeting settled also the name-change of the Meeting House.

The Rochester Proprietary was formed in 1679, under authorization of the General Court at Plymouth, and began settling Old Rochester almost immediately. By the decade of the 1690's members of the Society of Friends, largely from Sandwich on Cape Cod, began settling in Old Rochester. In this

The power of the press was quickly felt in this country—even before it was a country. Benjamin Franklin's Pennsylvania Gazette, started in 1729, in Philadelphia, was one of the strongest voices favoring the American Revolution.

Strong voices are being raised again, to protect the power of the press to get to the people. The government is thinking of raising the postal rates for newspapers by as much as 200 percent. That could seriously affect the price and even the availability of many community papers.

Anyone wishing to write Congress on either side of this or any issue can write to the U.S. Senate, Washington D.C. 20510 and the House of Representatives, Washington D.C. 20515.

earliest period their Meetings for Worship were held in various Quaker homes.

In 1702, a congregation of Friends was "gathered" officially near Little Neck (now located in the Town of Marion). Its first Meeting House was built in 1714, in that vicinity, near the old pound. This Meeting House served Friends in the central, southern and eastern parts of Old Rochester for over a century.

In the middle of the 1820's, at the time of some major organizational changes for Friends in New England, it was considered best to relocate the Meeting House. The decision was made then to build a new Meeting House in the Second (Mattapoisett) Precinct; and the present structure was completed in 1827.

Why do these people give up every Monday night from September through April? Because they like to sing, they like the challenge of new music, they enjoy the camaraderie of the group, and it is rewarding to see the results of all those Monday nights come to fruition in a performance for the community.

Sippican Choral Society concerts, especially the December concert, have become an accepted and expected part of the local community calendar.

The Music Director of the Sippican Choral Society is Ms. Judith C. Dautel. Judy brings a wide range of choral music experience to the group as a result of her many musical associations throughout southeastern Massachusetts. Mrs. Corinne Peck, well-known throughout the area as an accomplished accompanist, serves the chorus in this capacity.

The chorus averages a membership of approximately 65. As with most choruses, there is always room for more - especially tenors and basses.

For more information about the chorus please call Michael Ruderman, President, 996-4412; or Judy Dautel, Music Director, 996-9750.

PAULA'S FAMOUS GERMAN BAND

The Rotch-Jones-Duff House and Garden Museum will cap off its successful MUSIC IN THE GARDEN Summer Evening Concert Series with a performance of PAULA'S FAMOUS GERMAN BAND. This is the eighth and final concert in the Thursday night series sponsored by fourteen local businesses. The Museum is located at 396 County Street, New Bedford and is a private non-profit organization. The Greek Revival House was built in 1834 and the Victorian gardens were added in the 1850's.

The "Gesang Verein Lyra Band" or Paula's Famous German Band has been performing for over ten years in many locations throughout New England including Faneuil Hall in Boston and Mittersill and Waterville Valley in Maine. The band appears in full German costume with authentic lederhosen and tyrolian hats.

In addition to native German music and folk songs, the band also plays polkas, Viennese waltzes, and many other old-time favorites, along with performing tradition-

Mosquito Control

EXPERIMENTAL PLAN IN SALT MARSH SECTION OF MATTAPOISETT

The Plymouth County Mosquito Control Project has selected a section of Bayside Meadows saltmarsh in Mattapoisett to be the site of an experimental "closed system" Open Marsh Water Management Plan.

The concept of such a plan is to use natural factors in the environment of the marsh to control the mosquito population. In a closed system no attempt is made to drain wet areas in the marsh but instead to design a plan that will allow fish to have access to the wet areas of the marsh where they will be able to feed on mosquito larvae.

Recently, representatives from the Mattapoisett Conservation Commission, the Manomet Bird Observatory, and several state and federal agencies toured the site along with Michael King, Assistant Superintendent of Plymouth County Mosquito Control Project.

The Project is now awaiting a permit from the Army Corp of Engineers to begin working on the saltmarsh. The Project hopes to be able to complete its work some time this fall.

Bell School Fair

The 8th Annual Bell School Fair will be held Saturday, August 24th, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., rain or shine, at the Bell Schoolhouse, 25 Drift Road, Head of Westport.

This unique country fair is sponsored every year by the Westport Historical Society with all proceeds going to benefit the restoration of the Bell School. There are food booths to tempt your taste buds with homemade chowder, johnny cakes and sausages along with fresh products from the home and garden. And for the sweet tooth in the family, a variety of fresh baked goods will be available.

Local artists will be displaying their crafts and handwork, and you won't want to miss browsing through all the old books, clothes and collectibles. You might even get lucky and win the raffle: first prize is a weekend for two at the Jared Coffin House on Nantucket Island, followed by a second prize of 25 pounds of live, native lobster, and the third prize is a complete dinner for two at the Kate Cory Restaurant. Whatever your reasons are for coming, this year's fair will prove to be an interesting and exciting event for the whole family.

"We are pleased to be associated in this important venture," said David S. Liederman, Executive Director of the League. "In combining the outreach of the Child Welfare League of America with the talent of Walt Disney Home Video, we take an important step in enabling children to help themselves become safe from strangers -- as well as from people children know who also might mistreat them.

"We recommend this videotape for use by families, community centers, agencies -- everyone concerned with helping children learn to be TOO SMART FOR STRANGERS."

A copy of the video presentation will be available at New Bedford Child & Family Service. For additional information please contact: New Bedford Child & Family Service, Marlene O'Neill, Development Director, at 996-8572.

Paskamansett Bird Club

Sixteen members of the area's birding organization, Paskamansett Bird Club of Dartmouth, observed scores of exotic breeding birds on Monomoy National Wildlife Reservation, Chatham, during a 6-hour trek along beaches and footpaths on the wild preserve on August 3rd.

Guided by Blair Nikula, renowned Chatham authority on the island's birdlife, they observed 36 different species among upwards of 1000 individuals, all commonly associated with marshes or watery habitat except

Most impressive was the sight of some 40 Willets, a southern species which only within in very recent years started migratory flights north to breed in Massachusetts. A large shorebird with inconspicuous greyish plumage on land, when it erupts in flight it flashes a spectacular pattern of black and white bands on its wings.

Perhaps the most memorable sight of the day, however, was the exhibition staged by 3 Black Skimmers, southern birds which, like Willets, have just recently been known to be nesting here. In full view of the Paskamansetteers they performed their unique hunting flight, skimming over quiet water with sharp lower mandibles cleaving the surface in quest of fish or other edibles.

A third migratory southern bird which began breeding on Monomoy in this decade is the dramatically colorful American Oystercatcher. The delighted birders counted 21 of these; and yet another exotic, the Glossy Ibis, now appears regularly on Monomy, where 3 of them were observed by the birders.

Other colorful migrants which don't nest on the island but do drop down for feeding were noted; among them were 25 Ruddy Turnstones, 100 Blackbellied Plover, 75 Red Knots, as well as 50 Short-billed Dowitchers. Five species of terns, including a lone Forster's, were conspicuous for their swift, graceful flight, followed by hovering and plummeting. The sighting of one Whimbrel, one White-rumped Sandpiper, 4 Bonaparte's Gulls and 8 Hudsonian Godwits also added special excitement to the exby the U.S. Cycling Federation. The field promises to be an exciting one with Steve Scuron, the 16 year old Junior National Road Champion, a heavy favorite.

At 1:15 p.m. following the Juniors, the Women's Race will take place. This is a 25-mile race and has quickly become a crowd favorite. It looks like Maryann Martin, the 1984 Tour de France winner and a participant in last year's Whaling City Pro-Am, will be a popular contender.

At 3:00 p.m. the Pro-Am will begin. This event, a grueling 50 mile criterium, featuring professional and amateur stars from around the world, is a premier cycling event in this country. In the past two years, cycling greats such as Steve Hegg, 1984 Olympic Gold Medalist, and Jeff Pierce, a member of the Schwinn Team and 1984 Olympic Team, have competed against each other in the New Bedford Pro-Am.

This year's exciting roster includes John Eustice, the United States Pro Cycling Champion and the Kilian Irish Beer Team, which includes 5 Olympic riders. One of the most prominent foreign entries this year is Yehuda Gershoni of Israel. At least a dozen international riders will compete this year. Adolph Coors Company, parent sponsor of the Coors International Bicycle Classic of Colorado, became the corporate sponsor for New Bedford's Pro-Am this year, and many of the cyclists competing in the Colorado Classic will compete in New Bedford.

This cycling celebration is actually kicked off with a gala "Meet the Stars and Media" party Friday night, August 23rd, for corporate sponsors and major contributors. The following day, Saturday, August 24th, a gigantic "Parade of Stars" takes place. The parade steps off at Buttonwood Park, an historic Homestead park, which was planned in 1894 by the gentleman who designed Central Park in New York, on Union Street and will march to Waterfront Park where internationally known Capital recording stars, "Tavares", will host an outdoor concert.

Tobey Hospital

DIRECTOR OF NURSING APPOINTED AT TOBEY

Charles S. Kinney, President of Tobey Hospital, Inc., has appointed Mrs. Minniett Pilgrim, R.N. Director of Nursing Services, effective July 30th. A long-time employee of Tobey Hospital, Mrs. Pilgrim resides in Wareham with her husband and their two children. Her association with Tobey Hospital dates back to 1964, when sighting nursing as her vocation she participated in the "future nurse" program. After receiving her LPN degree from the Holy Ghost School of Nursing in Cambridge and her RN degree from LaSalle Junior College in Auburndale, Mrs. Pilgrim transferred to Southeastern Massachusetts University in pursuit of her Bachelor of Science Degree in Nursing.

In 1971 Miniett Pilgrim began employment at Tobey Hospital as a full-time Medical/Surgical nurse on SKII. She soon transferred to an Intensive Care Unit and Emergency Room assignment where she spent 10 years. Most recently she held the position of Administrative Nursing Supervisor, overseeing the Emergency Room, Intensive Care and Maternity Units. She has also coordinated the Nursing Continuing Education Program at Tobey. Mrs. Pilgrim has a vast nursing experience and an understanding of hospital policies and procedures to call upon in facing the challenges of her appointment as Director.

With accolades for the staff of more than 40 nurses, Mrs. Pilgrim speaks of working to maintain the quality nursing care that Tobey patients have come to rely on. She believes that "effecting the best care for patients requires a collaborative effort among the nursing staff, medical staff, and personnel hospital-wide". Mrs. Pilgrim looks to enhance nurse and physician relationships and to improve interdepartmental communications.

Minniett Pilgrim describes today's nurse as a highly skilled and trained professional, a "health educator" working in a preventive vein to promote good health. In her role as Director of Nursing, she will work to create an improved image for the nursing profession both within the Hospital and in the community.

Mrs. Pilgrim was chosen from a field of 40 candidates who had submitted their applications.

look at the ecology of the Seaside Sparrow (Ammodramus maritima maritima). After returning to this area from an intensive three month stay at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D/C. collecting anatomical data on over 30 species of whales, Rob will be spending the summer in the saltmarsh trying to provide more information about the Seaside Sparrow and its habitat.

The Seaside Sparrow is unique because it lives almost exclusively in saltmarshes along the Atlantic and Gulf coasts: one small population inhabits a freshwater marsh in Florida. Within this range though, nine different races of this species occur, two of which have been extirpated: the Dusky Seaside Sparrow once inhabited a small area in Eastern Florida, but the advent of mosquito control projects in the 50's and 60's coupled with extensive wildfires led to the birds' rapid decline until only five males were left in 1980. The Smyrna Seaside Sparrow has also been extirpated due to loss of habitat, in this case caused by the encroachment of mangrove trees into the Seasides' preferred grassland marshes.

Maintenance of habitat is a must for this species' survival, for not only is the bird restricted to saltmarshes, but it is also thought to require specific vegetation within the marsh in which to place its nest.

In order to understand some of the factors involved in this bird's success, the Lloyd Center study will concentrate on determining and quantifying the vegetation requirements of the Seaside Sparrow. The population under investigation is located at Allen's Pond in South Dartmouth. To date, 25 pairs have been found, making this the largest population in Massachusetts and possibly in all of New England. Preliminary work at Allen's Pond suggests that the Seasides prefer to nest in Saltmarsh Cordgrass (Spartina alterniflora) which occupies the intertidal portions of the marsh and is an important contributor of nutrients into the saltmarsh ecosystem. Frequently, though, saltmarshes are dredged or ditched ostensibly to control odor and mosquitoes, and these practices alter the marsh features and distribution of marsh grasses. One aspect of the present study is to determine how the Seaside Sparrow responds to the alterations at Allen's Pond over the years.

In order to realize the significance of the Allen's Pond study, comparisons of nesting habitats will be made with studies done on Seasides in Rhode Island and New York. Studies conducted on populations in these states indicate that Seaside Sparrows will utilize all available nest sites in a marsh containing suitable habitat. However, Allen's Pond appears to contain more suitable habitat than the number of Seasides would indicate. Why the Allen's Pond population has not "saturated" the marsh is one of the questions Rob is trying to answer. Many factors are involved, including tidal cycles, nesting success, and mortality during migration.

The first Seaside Sparrows arrived at Allen's Pond on May 6, and since then much activity has been observed as the birds set up territories and built nests. Eggs were laid by May 27, but on the weekend of June 1, the full moon brought extreme high tides to the marsh, flooding all the nests. Consequently, the birds must start all over building new nests and laying more eggs.

will depend on whether or not the birds can raise a brood of young between the full moon cycles, and also if they can avoid predation primarily by crows and raccoons. The Center's research will look at these factors and others with the hope of gaining a wealth of information on the ecology of Seaside Sparrows in Massachusetts.

This project is one of several Lloyd Center research efforts in the Pond. Other studies include a determination of sedimentation patterns at the inlet to assist in future planning to keep the inlet open, a water chemistry study in conjunction with Roger Williams College, a study of bird life throughout the Pond area and a study of beach grass and fungal interdependence.
